BAY HIGH TO PLAY MAGEE HI

Saturday Night—Newly Organized Band of Sixty Pieces to Play Between Halves of Game.

The Bay High Tigers of Bay St. Louis are scheduled to meet the strong Magee High aggregation on this Saturday night (October 29, 1938) at St. Stanislaus stadium at 8 o'clock.

The Bay High School presents a strong team with a large line, averaging 178 pounds from tackle to tackle. The Tiger offense is studded with tricky end runs and passes and smashing line plays. The Tigers were recently defeated by the Gulfport Commodores but the Bay High team showed an offense which was equally capable in the air as they were in their running plays.

The fans will be entertained during the half and during the game by the recently organized sixty-piece Bay High School band under the direction of Mr. Morgan. The band will play various marches and pep songs. Mr. Morgan has arranged for maneuvers at the half.

The Bay Hi band has been organized for only seven weeks but rapid progress has been made. The band expects to make a trip to Jackson, Miss., where they will participate in the State Band Contest to be held in June. They will enter in Class D, the beginners or first year band class.

PNEUMONIA THIRD IN LEADING CAUSES OF DEATHS IN STATE

Film Showing at A. & G. And Gulf Theaters.

Pneumonia now takes more lives annually than does any other communicable disease. It is the third leading cause of death in Mississippi and last year claimed 1850 lives.

Part of the heavy burden of reducing mortality from this disease rests upon the individual citizen. This is a responsibility which every adult should share by cooperating in the broad educational campaign being conducted this fall and winter by the State Board of Health and county health departments in an effort to reduce the ravages of this disease.

Through information being disseminated by newspapers, radio, study clubs, and the statewide use by commercial theaters of a pneumonia film produced by the U. S. Public Health Service and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, it is believed the high toll of death from pneumonia can be appreciably reduced.

The extreme importance of these measures is shown in the short film showing at the A. & G. Theater, Nov. 1-2 and at the Gulf Theater Nov. 4-5. This picture is entitled, "A New Day" and shows how a neglected cold can develop into pneumonia, and how the possible tragedy of a mother's death was averted by the use of modern weapons for fighting pneumonia. We urge you to see this film in its engagement there. It drives home a message which will stand you in good stead if pneumonia ever strikes in your family.

National Navy Day Observed October 27.

Most people are aware of the fact that October 27th is observed each year in this country as "Navy Day." Yet only a relative few realize that special significance is attached to this date. Such, however, is the case: October 27th is the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, who more than any other man, was responsible for the rapid development of our modern navy.

As assistant secretary of the Navy during the years preceding the Spanish American War, Roosevelt by his insistence on a fleet skilled in tactics and gunnery, contributed immensely to the state of Naval efficiency which won the battles of Manila Bay and Santiago. As President, Roosevelt was consistently the Navy's friend, maintaining its efficiency, and finally despatching "The White Fleet" around the world in the memorable voyage of 1906-1907.

It is, then, only fitting that the day set aside in honor of the Navy should also be the birthday of the Navy's best friend. Navy Day has an important meaning in our National scheme of affairs, and rightly so. In a way, it is typical of our National spirit. The United States became a great Nation largely as the result of its comparative isolation. We unconsciously look upon the navy as the means of maintaining such isolation in the future, as the bulwark of National defense, rather than as a weapon of aggression. On Navy Day, the average citizen realizes something of this, he is made aware again that the Navy is his means of security, that it is something of which he can be proud.

This year, all over the United States speeches were made, parades were witnessed, visitors flocked to naval ships and stations. It is something more than mere "observance." On service which best typifies our Country's National Spirit.

It is the same spirit that has made the United States Navy the pride of America and the envy of the rest of the World.

ELECTION FOR GAS NOV. 12TH.

Another Major City Improvement Awaiting Vote Of The Public

In conformity with certain provisions of the statutes an election has been called by the City of Bay St. Louis, for Saturday, November 12, affording the citizens of Bay St. Louis an opportunity to vote on the question as to whether or not the city of Bay St. Louis will or will not get the much needed major improvement "Natural Gas."

Much has been said regarding the issuing of $200,000 or as much thereof as may be necessary for the construction of a natural gas transmission and distribution system for this city and many arguments have been advanced regarding the issuance of these "revenue producing bonds."

Following is a statement issued by the mayor and board of commissioners emphasizing the fact that these bonds are "revenue producing" and will cause no additional levy or extra taxes to be paid by the tax-payers:

Again the voters of the City of Bay St. Louis are called upon to exercise their right of citizenship. This time it is for authorizing the Commission Council to issue bonds in the sum of $200,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary for the construction of a natural gas transmission and distribution system for our city. Some misinformed people, the opponents of gas, are circulating false rumors to the effect that the bonds to be voted upon are TAX bonds. If those people will look elsewhere on the pages of this publication they will see that an election is called on the 12th, day of November, 1938, to allow the voters of the City of Bay St. Louis an opportunity to vote on the question as to whether or not the City of Bay St. Louis shall issue its revenue bonds, etc.

The entire transmission and distribution system will be built from the proceeds of the sale of the revenue bonds if they are authorized to be issued at the coming election. The bond and interest maturities of the revenue bonds shall be paid solely from the revenues derived from the operation of the natural gas transmission and distribution system constructed from the proceeds derived from the operation of the said natural gas transmission and distribution system.

We feel that the above is sufficient to notify the voting public of the Commission Council's intention to issue Revenue Bonds and not Tax Bonds.

New Oldsmobile At Ben Hille's Garage Is Object of Interest

The 1939 model, sedan, Oldsmobile on exhibition in the showroom of the Ben Hille Garage, South Front street, is attracting considerable interest, both for its beauty and marked improvements over former models.

OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION...

Proclaiming All Saints' Day a Holiday.

SINCE November 1st of each year is All Saints' Day, a time set aside especially when tribute is paid to the memory of the departed; when the public visits the cemeteries and decorates graves with flowers, and religious ceremonies is the order of the day, and it is fitting that one and all visit the "cities of the dead" and pay respect by their visit in prayerful solicitation;

And since All Saints' Day is recognized over this entire section of our immediate Southland, and in some places as a legal holiday, and in Bay St. Louis always with a thought and consideration as befitting such occasion.

Therefore, I, G. Y. Blaize, mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis do issue this as the city's official proclamation declaring TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1938, a holiday in the reverend sense of the word and further officially requesting that all places of business be closed all day on that day, in order the public engaged in commercial pursuit and others may visit the cemeteries and pay respect to the memory of the departed.

Done at the City Hall this the 28th day of October, A. D. 1938, and witnessed by the city's official seal.

G. Y. BLAIZE, Mayor.

PICAYUNE GAME IS HIGHLIGHT OF ROCKS SCHEDULE

Large Crowd Expected to Attend—Stanislaus in Fine Shape For Contest.

The highlight in the schedule of the Rock-A-Chaws is the coming game with the Picayune Maroons, which will take place on October 28, here. It is the most important game of the season, since Picayune is usually classified among the best teams on the Coast. Both, students and townspeople are in eager anticipation of the game.

The Rock-A-Chaws have been playing the Maroons for three successive years, and as yet, have been unable to come out victorious. In 1936, the Picayune squad defeated the Rocks by the score of 27-14; in 1937, they again took the victory by a score of 26-0; last year the Rocks went down with a score of 32-0. This year's result is a question mark.

The local squad is expecting to turn the tables on Picayune this year. The team is in top shape, and is resolved to take the victory. They have gone against five teams, and five teams have bowed to their feet—Will Picayune be among those who have kissed the ground? It is hard to say.

With the spirit that has prevailed among the students and among the members of the Varsity squad, and with the thought that the Picayune game will probably decide who is going to the Toy Bowl, the team will do its best to come out on top. Come on Team, keep the record of VICTORIES clean!

29 Stanislaus Students Make Honor Roll For First Six Month Term

The first six weeks of school have passed, and the examinations for the first term have been finished. Twenty-nine students in the High School Department were able to lead in their various classes, and appear in the coveted Honor Roll.

Brother Peter has introduced a new system in announcing the results to the students. Each class takes turns, and each individual presents himself to the office to receive the results of his examinations. This brings a closer relationship between the student and the president, as to how he is keeping up with his class. Brother Peter has also made the change that students are eligible for the Honor Roll with an average of 90 per cent provided that no subject is under 85 per cent.

Due to the fact that some of the Brothers, at the present, attending the Eucharistic Congress, results of the Grammar School Department have not been acquired, but the names of those who came out distinguished in their class work, will be published in the next issue of the Rock-A-Chaw.

Those in the High School Department are:

Junior Class: David Assaf, E. J. Caire, Augustin Quintero, Luke Elliott.

DEATH OF U. S. NAVAL RECRUITER

C. H. Zerr, Son of Bay Resident Dies at Houston, Texas.—Burial at Arlington Cemetery.

C. H. Zerr, son of Mr. Charles Zerr of Bay St. Louis, chief yeoman and one of the most popular men ever assigned for duty at the Houston naval recruiting station, died at 4:55 p. m. Friday at the Methodist Hospital in Houston, Texas.

Mr. Zerr was stricken early Sunday while at his residence at the Lee Hotel, and became unconscious. He regained consciousness only at intervals.

The chief yeoman was widely known in Houston and the Mississippi Gulf Coast as an accomplished speaker. Only last year Mr. Zerr was principal speaker here before the local Rotary Club and at the American Legion meeting. He was well known here and spent part of his annual vacation at this place, guest of his father and friends.

He founded and edited "Naval Facts Worth Knowing," and this work took him deep into research concerning the United States Navy. He had been with the Houston station nearly three years and was eligible for retirement from active service in January.

He had been active in athletics, and was known as one of the best handball players in Houston. Before he enlisted in the Navy, on May 16, 1919, in New Orleans, he fought himself to the lightweight championship of Southern states and later, while in the navy, he fought himself to the welterweight championship of the fleet during the middle-twenties. He retired as welterweight champion.

Also in 1928, he won the Golden Glove trophy in the middleweight boxing tournament in Los Angeles and was qualified as a middleweight boxer. Later he trained boxers in the navy.

His achievements in the literary field were as notable as athletics.

His last speech before the Houston Agricultural Club on "Relation of the American Farm to the United States Navy" was replete with information about the amount and kinds of products from the farm required by the navy.

Mr. Zerr was born in New Orleans on January 31, 1903, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zerr, Sr. Besides his wife, he is survived by his father and two brothers and one sister, all of New Orleans.

His service record at the recruiting station shows that he was enlisted at New Orleans on May 16, 1919, and that his average marks for the total naval service ran above 98 per cent. One of his associates reading the record said "there are not many of us who have that kind of record."

Points of interest in his nearly 20 years of service include being detailed as an intermediate gun pointer, first class, on the destroyer Robert Smith from October 6, 1921 to November 8, 1921, to October 3, 1922, and from October 4, 1922, to May 22, 1923.

Then he was detailed as light gun pointer, first class, on the destroyer Selfridge as well as director pointer.

While serving on the destroyer Robert Smith he was issued a permanent appointment as yeoman, 1st class, August 12, 1926. He qualified as gun pointer, first class, at short range battle practice and was entitled to wear the navy efficiency "E" for gunnery and to receive prize money.

He was commended for his fine work on several occasions and commended by the commanding officer at meritorious mast for "industry and initiative" as demonstrated in the duty of his rating, in athletics, while at the training station." His

BOY SCOUTS.

MORE and more interest is being manifested in the advancement of scouting in this section.

Meetings are held for scout executives of the Bay St. Louis-Pass Christian District, each month and are attended by local business and professional men who are showing personal interest in the boy scout movement.

The members of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club are sponsoring a troop and working wholeheartedly in cooperation with other sponsors to make scouting an outstanding factor.

A court of honor held Monday night was well attended. Bay St. Louis is not found lagging, on the contrary, a full and complete cooperation is being shown in this work.

It has been said that the boy of today is the man of tomorrow. We are vitally interested in the welfare of the boy and scout work which is one of the vital agencies helping to accomplish the building of characters and lives of the youth of today.

Our local troops are under the capable direction of experienced scout workers and the result of their work is shown through the many civic services the members of the troops furnish at all times when needed, especially in carrying out the standards of scouting in times of need and assisting in handling traffic on special occasions, helping the aged, making cheer at Christmas time for the needy and in doing a good deed each day.

We often wonder, in this day of the getter, whether anybody thinks of the dreamer, or remembers his dreams.

486 GALLONS TO ONE ACRE.

THIS item is of special interest to our farmers and this announcement comes from the Poplarville Branch Experiment Station of the Mississippi Agricultural Station of State College which reports 486 gallons of syrup raised on one acre of land. At this station various types and varieties of sugar cane, some produced in this country and many imported from foreign countries have been tested during the past ten years. From these a new and superior variety has come, known as CO 290, and it is this variety that produced 486 gallons per acre. J. C. Roberts, superintendent of the station, says that the land was fertilized heavily for this production, the land receiving annually an application of 800 pounds of a 4-8-4 fertilizer per acre. Sugar cane syrup is most delicious, and if properly made and properly packaged, labeled and marketed is a good cash crop for the farmers of Mississippi.

SCHOOLS TO COOPERATE

ON account of lack of understanding of some of the services now provided for the public," states W. F. Bond, commission of the State Department of Public Welfare, "it is our purpose to ask the schools and colleges of the State to cooperate with the department in getting the main facts underlying the entire Social Security Program before the citizenship of the State. No subject of greater importance can be considered now in our educational institutions than the efforts of the Federal Government in cooperation with the States to serve the needy of the Nation, and the state of Mississippi."

If affairs in the United States are not run exactly to suit you, just remember that you are only one of the 129,818,000 citizens in this country.

WHAT BERLIN UNDERSTANDS.

NEWSPAPER dispatches from Berlin tell us that the announcement of President Roosevelt that this country will begin a vastly increased armament program "has produced a profound impression in German official quarters and a sensation in the German press."

The reason is not far to seek. The German government understands force when it comes into view. In fact, it is about the only factor that counts with the present regime in Germany.

PRESIDENTIAL FAVORITE

PRESIDENT Roosevelt attended the theater in Washington recently to witness a play.

It was the second time that he had occupied the Presidential box at the Washington theater since his inauguration in 1933.

The first occasion was to see Walter Huston play "Dowdsorth." The last time was to see Walter Huston in "Knickerbocker Holiday."

ADVERTISING PAYS.

ONE of the reasons why the local newspaper editor believes that advertising pays is that the advertiser, who always insists that he wants "good" position so that his advertisement will be read, was in the office the other day when an irate subscriber protested against the publication of a three-line article, which appeared on an inside page, and had his name spelled wrong.

It seems that democracy, in addition to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, must now guarantee its people a minimum standard of living.

ALL SAINTS DAY.

ALL Saints Day, dedicated to the memory of the departed, occurring November 1, will fall on Tuesday this year.

In Louisiana the day is a legal holiday. The custom of decorating and otherwise caring for the resting places of the departed loved ones obtains largely in New Orleans and thru the Louisiana French-Speaking sections. That territory extends far and beyond the land of the Acadians.

In Mississippi it extends principally along the Gulf Coast sections, to a shallow depth in the interior and on to Mobile, the latter place equally observed with the same spirit and manifestations as in New Orleans.

The Gulf Coast section will include the principal towns and cities and of these none the less are Waveland and Bay St. Louis. Throngs will visit the cemeteries, paying one's respect to the dead, tribute to the memory of the loved ones gone before. Flowers in profusion, in all their bountiful and beauteous bloom will find lodgement on the graves and places of entombment, tenderly placed with the silent prayer and with all the reverential awe born of piety and love.

The custom of observing All Saints' does not diminish in the least. On the contrary, each year brings larger throngs to visit, the graves carry more flowers and the spirit of attention seems to abound in greater measure.

In Bay St. Louis the Mayor and City Commissioners have issued an official proclamation declaring Tuesday, November 1st, a holiday found elsewhere in this issue, with a thought and consideration as befitting such occasion. The custom of setting one day of each year aside for this purpose is an old one and is traditionally carried on year after year.

WAR MEMORIAL BUILDING

FROM Mr. E. L. Mulvaney, chief architect, we learn that the approximate overall dimensions of the War Memorial Building to be erected by the Old Capital, in Jackson, will be 110 feet by 123 feet, and that the general architectural style will be modernized classical. The exterior walls will be either of limestone or marble. The general plan shape of the building will be in the shape of a Y with open Memorial court between the two front wings. The main floor will house offices, stock room and reading room for the Department of Archives and History. The service Commission and State American Legion Department will be in the rear. The second floor will house the Hall of Fame in the left wing. Offices for Veterans Foreign Wars, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Spanish American War Veterans, and Disabled Veterans will be housed in the right wing. On the ground floor will be offices for the Adjutant General, stock rooms for Department Archives and History will be in the basement, as will be general storage space. This is just a brief outline of the building which will cost a little more than a quarter of a million dollars. The erection of this building will close the driveway on the north side of the old capital, and a new driveway will be built from the Pearl River Street side of the old capital ground near the G. M. & N. R. R.

OUR HIGHWAYS ARE SAFER.

THE fact that motor-vehicle deaths show a decrease of about twenty per cent as compared with the fatalities of last year on the basis of gasoline consumption, is encouraging but it should not make us forget that this year something like 31,000 lives will be lost in traffic accidents.

Since November, 1937, there has been a sustained reduction in the number of traffic deaths although automobile travel has increased. Apparently, the campaign for safety on our highways is succeeding but there must be no let-up. Every driver of a motor vehicle must contribute to the safety of others by driving carefully at all times.

We feel sure that the reduction in fatalities is the result, in part, of improved highways, with especial reference to safety measures taken by engineers to reduce the hazards of the roads. It is also, in part, the result of better regulation of drivers and improved traffic control, both by physical devices and proper police supervision.

HUNTING SEASON AT HAND.

THIS season of the year is always anticipated by local sportsmen. Hunting and fishing lead the field of sports.

Local hunters are already taking advantage of the cool mornings and evenings to hunt squirrel, the season having opened on October 1st.

The bird season will open next month for quail and doves. Due to the dry season and bountiful cover crop the supply of this particular game should be plentiful. Duck hunting opens November 15, with an additional period allowed this year.

Fishing is again coming into its own. With cooler weather ahead speckled trout are filling the waters of local rivers and bayous. Several large catches have been reported lately.

The Gulf Coast section offers a wide territory for both fishing and hunting with a wide range for game and birds and the numerous bodies of water for fishing. It is truly a sportsman's paradise.

FOREST PROTECTION PAYS.

LAST year a forest fire started somewhere in the United States every three minutes, according to the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, which reports that nine-tenths of all the acreage burned consisted of unprotected forest areas and more than eleven per cent of all unprotected forested land was burned over.

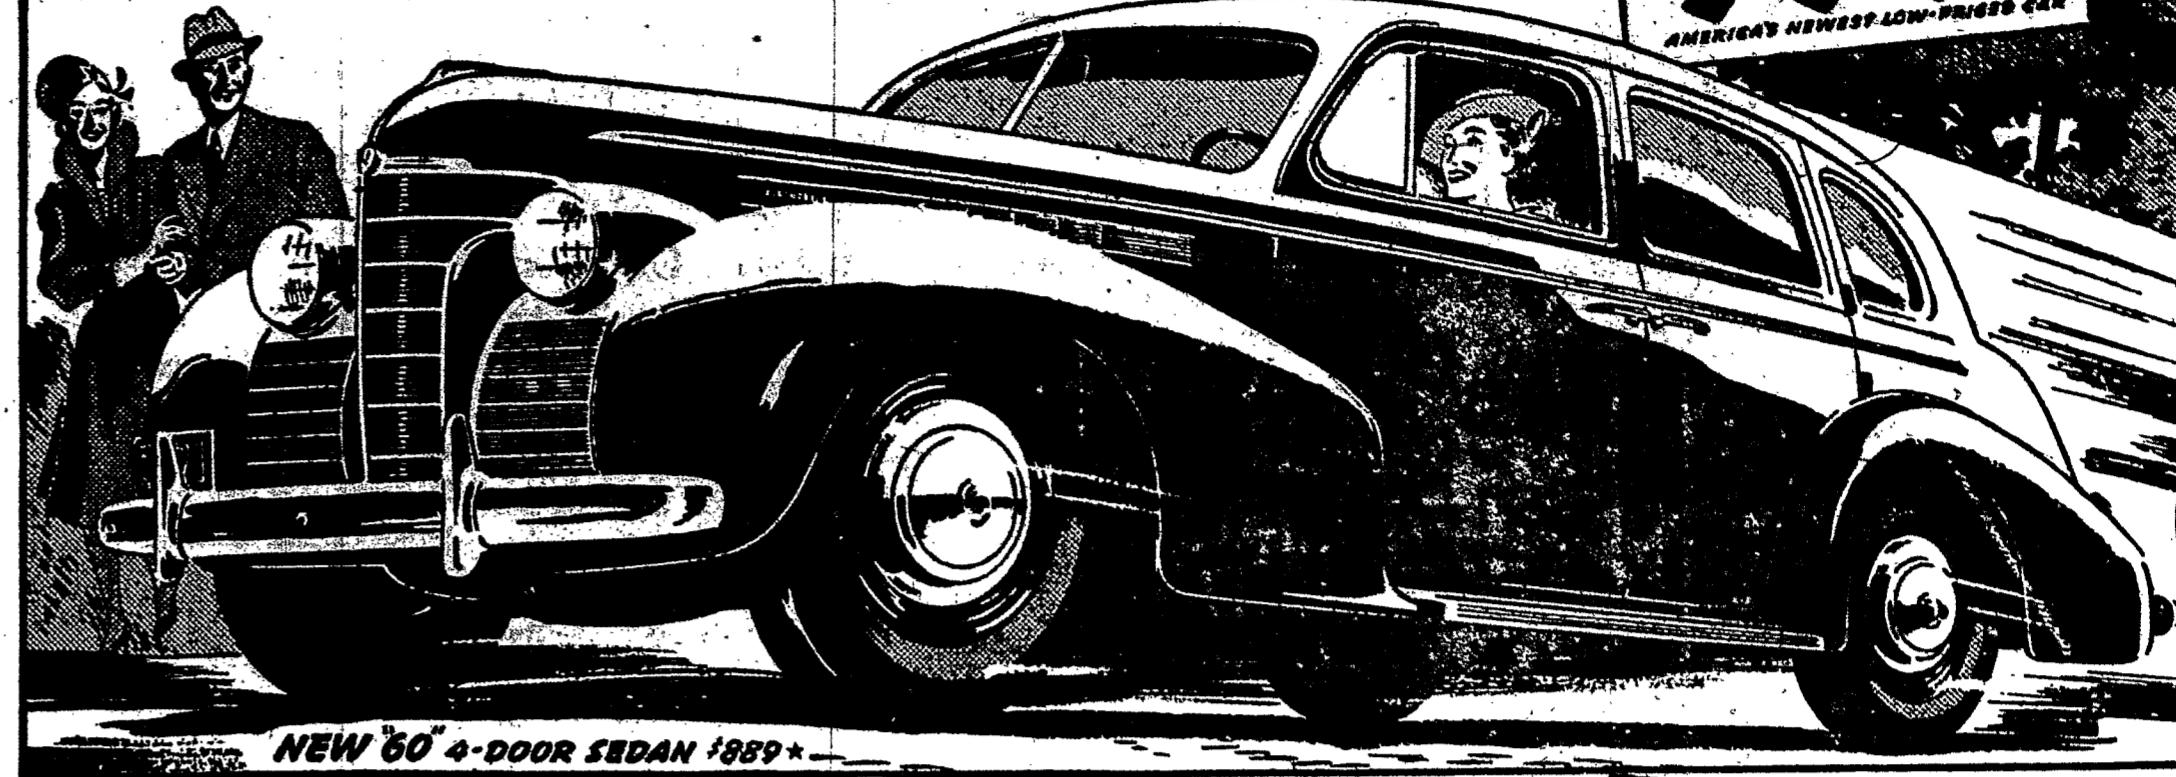

From figures given, nearly 400,000,000 acres of Federally-owned forest lands, private and state forests areas, protected by organized fire control systems, lost only one-fifteenth as many acres through fires as the approximately 170,000,000 acres that were unprotected.

In other words, on unprotected acreage some 20,637,000 were burned. In the protected areas, more than twice as many acres, the loss was only 1,343,500 acres. It looks as if protection pays.

It seems that democracy, in addition to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, must now guarantee its people a minimum standard of living.

Through an FHA (Federal Housing Association) loan, which we will get for you through the facilities of our bank, every advantage of such loan on easy and long-time payments.

Build a new house, repair or renovate a old one; paint or otherwise improve your home, is no longer a seeming impossibility. Let our Bank help you. The government will do it. And we will help you. Let us explain.

SPAWN OF THE NORTH DRAMA OF ALASKAN LIFE

George Raft, Henry Fonda and Dorothy Lamour form Hollywood's newest troupe as the cast leaders in "Spawn of the North," Paramount's sensational drama of Alaska, which will have its first local showing Sunday and Monday at the A. & G. Theater.

Raft, who won coast-to-coast applause for his performance in "Souls at Sea" has a similar role in the new picture. He plays a robust and devil-may-care Arctic fisherman, whose disregard for law and danger is in sharp contrast to his devotion to the highest ideals of loyalty and friendship. Fonda, who now plays Raft's lifelong friend and final reluctant enemy, comes to the screen from his triumphs in "Jezebel" and "Blockade."

Miss Lamour, cast as a frontier Alaska woman who loves Raft and Fonda equally, has a role distinctive on two scores. It not only marks the biggest dramatic role in her spectacular motion picture career, but in addition she appears minus the famous "Lamour sarong," which she made famous in "The Jungle Princess," "Hurricane" and "Her Jungle Love." Prominent in supporting roles are John Barrymore, Akim Tamiroff, Lynne Overman and Hollywood's newest star discovery, pretty Louise Platt.

Based on the well known novel by Bertrand Willoughby, "Spawn of the North" tells a sweeping story of two friends caught in the cross-currents of a war for fishing rights off the Alaskan coast. Although the two men, Raft and Fonda, lead opposing factions in a bloody feud, their friendship proves stronger than the war of Northland.

Now, Therefore be it hereby Resolved and Ordered, that a Special Election shall be and is hereby ordered to be called and caused to be held in the City Hall of said City on Saturday the 12th day of November, 1938, within legal hours, to allow the qualified electors of the City of Bay Saint Louis an opportunity to vote on the question as to whether or not the City of Bay Saint Louis shall issue revenue bonds in the amount of $200,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary for the construction of a natural gas transmission and distribution system.

HOW PULP WOOD PURCHASES ARE MADE

The modern southern sulphate or kraft mill requires from 270 to 1,100 cords of pulpwood per day (15 to 61 carloads or from 72,000 to 352,000 cords of wood per year (320 days). Owing to deterioration thru sap stain it is inadvisable to build up large reserves of wood at the mill or at shipping points. Some of the mills call for delivery within 10 days of cutting. Once the pulp and paper mill is in operation it is costly to shut down and start again, and the flow of wood from stump to mill must be regular and certain. As a result of these factors the operating companies have developed various methods of obtaining their wood requirements and have organized separate Woods Departments.

Pulpwood may be purchased in 3 general ways:

1. By direct purchase of wood delivered at the mill.

2. Through agents in various parts of the territory who purchase wood at shipping points.

3. Through company contractors who are assigned a definite territory and a certain weekly quota.

(1) By direct purchase of wood delivered at the mill.

Only a few mills depend on direct purchases of pulpwood at the mill. Such purchases are too uncertain an are usually supplementary to regular purchases made under method 2 or 3. Where an open market at the mill, exists it allows timberland owners to cut and haul their own wood at times convenient to them. It allows farmers to engage in pulpwood operations during slack periods on the farm. Since the slack period occurs on most farms at the same time, the market is often flooded with wood at such times and the delivered price is reduced accordingly. Truck hauls of more than 30 miles, however, are seldom profitable.

(2). Purchases through agents in the producing territory.

Company agents at various points arrange for wood purchases delivered at designated shipping points.

By coordinating their shipments agents can often keep a steady supply of wood coming to the mill. The agents are simply wood buyers.

(3). Purchase through company contractors.

Owing to the necessity of having definite and regular pulpwood shipments, most of the companies have developed the contractor system. Although the details of the set-up vary from company to company, the general plan is as follows: A woods department or wood procurement department is organized and placed in charge of an experienced wood buyer. It is his responsibility to see that regular shipments of wood come to the mill at a specified cost per cord to the company. The wood buyer in turn organizes the territory and assigns a definite area and wood quota to a number of contractors. These contractors arrange for purchases of standing timber or stumpage, operate cutting, hauling, and loading crews which handle the wood from the stump to the mill or to the railroad car. The contractor may buy timber outright using their own funds or they may be company financed. Certain contractors in turn sublet portions of the job to subcontractors or jobbers. The contractor examines titles, locates boundary lines, handles the payrolls, and in turn receives a fixed price for all wood he delivers. The margin between operating costs—including the price paid for stumpage—represents the contractor's profit. The forest cutting practices may thus be controlled by the contractor or his subcontractors. Many property owners are seldom if ever on the grounds throughout the operations and do not check up on the cuttings.

Pulpwood purchases on the basis of standing timber may be either on a lump sum basis or on the number of cords of wood actually cut and based on actual measurement.

If the lump sum purchase is based on a fair and accurate estimate it is an equitable basis, otherwise the timberland owner stands a good chance of selling his wood for far less than its worth. It is strongly recommended that wood be sold only on a unit measure basis.

There are many factors affecting pulpwood stumpage prices. The chief ones are:

1. The species and stand per acre.

2. The distance to mill or shipping point.

3. The railroad shipping distance and freight rates.

4. Competition between mills and with other users of timber.
